

Testimonial from Michael Cameron, CEO and Managing Director – The GPT Group

The principles and values that Dick Dusseldorp established many decades ago are still considered contemporary and forward thinking today. Forty years ago, Dick launched The GPT Group, Australia's oldest Real Estate Investment Trust. The company's purpose and vision today embraces those principles providing a platform for how the organisation engages with employees, customers, shareholders and the community.

While the Australian skyline boasts a large number of Dusseldorp legacies, the real legacy is the impact he has every day on emerging talent within today's organisations. These young people satisfy their thirst for innovative and creative thinking from inspiration from today's leaders that model their beliefs on what they learnt from Dick.

Dick's courage and his ability to convert a vision into reality is something to be truly admired.